

Erika Grubbs is a Principal with Winston & Cashatt, Lawyers. She has worked extensively in both the public and private sectors, enjoying a multi-disciplinary practice focusing on real estate and land use, estate planning, construction litigation, and business law. She regularly represents individuals and corporations alike.

Prior to joining Winston & Cashatt, Erika was the head of the Legal, Human Resource, and Risk Management Departments for Kootenai County. She has also served as a Deputy Prosecutor in Washington and Idaho. Erika graduated from Wake Forest School of Law in Winston-Salem, North Carolina in 1992. She has lived, since then, in the Pacific Northwest. She is admitted to practice in Idaho, Washington, and Georgia.